

Congress To-Day.

SENATE.—The Hon. R. F. STOCKTON appeared in his place.

Mr. UNDERWOOD gave notice of a joint resolution making land warrants assignable.

Mr. Foot's joint resolution making arrangements for the reception and entertainment of Kossuth was taken up, and debated by Messrs. Foote, Dawson, Hale, and Underwood.

We learn by later accounts that Mr. Hale wished to amend the resolution of Mr. Foot, by inserting a clause relating to "all oppressed races," and that warm and sharp words passed between the two gentlemen. Mr. Cass spoke at some length, and very satisfactorily, in explanation of the position of Kossuth towards Hungary, Austria, Russia, and Turkey. Mr. UNDERWOOD spoke in opposition to the resolution.

At a quarter before three o'clock the Senate adjourned. No Chaplain was elected to-day.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—Mr. HARRIS, of Tennessee, offered a joint resolution explanatory of the bounty-land law passed September 28, 1860—so that nothing in it shall be so construed as to prevent the sale and transfer of any certificate or land warrant prior to the location of the same. He accepted an amendment of Mr. MEADE, to make all land warrants under all former acts assignable. A debate ensued; and before the subject was disposed of, the House proceeded to the execution of the order passed yesterday to draw for seats. The names of members were placed in a box, and each made his selection as his name was drawn by the Clerk.

On motion of Mr. RICHARDSON, the Speaker was authorized to appoint the standing committees of the House.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution introduced yesterday, to supply members with newspapers during the session.

At 8½ o'clock the House adjourned to Saturday, to enable the Speaker, in the mean time, to appoint the standing committees.

RUGBY ACADEMY.—This institution, which is located in the large and beautiful brick edifice at the corner of K and 14th streets, (a most commanding and desirable position,) is prominent among the better class of schools in Washington. It was established five years ago by its present able principal, and has known nothing but prosperity and improvement from its commencement to the present moment. Its instruction is comprehensive and thorough; and its teachers are gentlemen of high attainments, of professional experience, and well-tried ability. It is also supplied with every possible convenience that can conduce to the comfort and advantage of its boarders and pupils.

Among these may be named a well-furnished laboratory, an appropriate lecture-room, school-room, recitation-rooms, a fine cabinet of minerals, mathematical instruments and other apparatus, &c. The languages and sciences are taught upon the most approved modern principles; and no effort and no expense are omitted that can possibly render the school one of great efficiency and elevated tone—inferior, indeed, to none in the country.

The original design of the principal, as we are informed, was to provide a school adapted to the wants of members of Congress and other gentlemen whose unstable residence here called for a safe and comfortable abode for their sons near the scene of their own labors. This purpose has been faithfully consummated, and nowhere does there exist a school better adapted to meet this demand.

We refer the interested reader to the advertisement under the head "Educational" in another column.

LUXURIOUS ENJOYMENT.—A gentleman who had attained to some prominence in his native country, and could therefore command the requisite influence, came to this city some months ago and entered upon the duties of a government office. Having made much progress in acquiring a knowledge of our city and its ways, he long looked forward to Thanksgiving Day as an occasion of precious enjoyment. Accordingly, on the arrival of that day, he took a seat in an omnibus at an early hour, at a flip a ride, and never desisted it throughout the day, except occasionally, when it was necessary to remove from one vehicle to another. He thus consumed the day in journeyings to and fro between the Navy Yard and Georgetown; and though he confessed to having become both wearied and sore from jolting, he boasts in triumph of the great extent of travel he performed at a very small cost! We are reluctantly constrained to admit that this gentleman was from the Old Dominion. She is retrograding!

THE census work is highly interesting and instructive to the clerks engaged, many of whom have done nothing for months but add up columns of units, tens, and hundreds. "I wouldn't mind it," said one of them to us the other day, "if I could stop when I leave off; but I can't. I would I may, go where I may, the addition is still going on; and my very dreams are mathematical. Last night, for instance, as my wife informs me, after trying for a long time to forget the monotonous work, I at length fell off to sleep by footing up a column. 'Nine,' said I—'nine and three's twelve, and five's seventeen, and thirteen's thirty, and nine's thirty-nine, and sixteen's fifty-five, and twelve's sixty-seven, and eleven's seventy-eight, and fifteen's ninety-three, and seven's ONE HUNDRED!'—and away I went into a sleep as profound as the ghosts of thousands of ordinals would permit me to enjoy."

BALIGIOUS.—A lively interest appears to be manifested at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Ninth street, (Rev. J. C. Smith's.) The Rev. Mr. Gallaher, of St. Louis, preaches every evening to crowded congregations. We are requested to call attention to the meeting of this evening, which will commence at 7 o'clock.

MURDER TRIAL.—The trial of Henry Woddis, charged with the murder of his wife some seven years ago, is progressing at Canandaigua, New York. The prisoner is a man about 65 years of age, a farmer, in good circumstances, and hitherto connected with the Methodist Church.

The Treason Trials.

The trial of Hanaway was resumed yesterday morning, and the court-room was densely crowded. Theodore C. Cuyler opened for the defense, and commenced by reviewing the several acts of the Assembly of Pennsylvania on this subject, and the testimony which they would be able to present to the court, upon which they confidently relied for an acquittal. "We have seen here," he said, "the State of Maryland pressing on a private prosecution to bring about a verdict of guilty. We have seen witnesses recalled to make their testimony more perfect, where weakness was discovered. Testimony has been introduced which had no business in the case, to sustain a lie uttered from the prejudiced lips of the witness Kline, when he says the defendant remained silent when he charged him with urging on the blacks, by ordering them to fire on the officers. 'You did not believe it then, when you heard him assert it. It may be wrong in me to say that Maryland thirsts for the blood of an innocent prisoner, but the conduct in the case would seem to warrant it.' After Cuyler had finished, Elijah Lewis, one of the prisoners, was called on to testify in favor of Hanaway. To this the counsel for the United States objected, and a warm discussion of the matter followed. The evidence of Lewis was finally admitted; and, after hearing one more witness, the court adjourned.

A SEAT BE CONTESTED.—The Pennsylvania of yesterday says that the Hon. Hendrick B. Wright left Philadelphia on Monday for Washington, to which place he repairs to contest the seat in Congress claimed by Henry M. Fuller as Representative of the 11th district of Pennsylvania; and is informed that he is furnished with abundant and convincing evidence to establish the fraud by which his opponent obtained the certificate of the election officers. Contests for seats are always interesting, but rather expensive, especially to the unsuccessful contestant.

Messrs. Grubb & Foltz, of the Light Division Hall, Frederick street, Baltimore, sent a splendid treat of fried oysters and accompaniments to the printers at the American office, "just in the nick of time," as they had concluded their arduous labors at eleven o'clock last night. The typos pronounced the treat "refreshing." We mention the circumstance as a laudable one, and because some of our oyster-eating folks would like to know where to go in Baltimore, when in the oyster-eating mood.

MR. RITCHIE.—The Fredericksburg News of yesterday says that this venerable gentleman passed through that place in the cars on Sunday, destined for Washington. "Called to Acquiesce on business," the editor remarks, "we had the pleasure for the first time in our day to get a good view of him. It is seldom we have seen one of his age looking so youthful and of such activity. His step was as elastic and his countenance as playful as a boy of twenty. Bordered, we believe, eighty, he seemed not more than fifty. Dressed à la mode, with silk stockings and pumps, the lightest we have ever seen, we were chilled even at the sight of his feet. Mr. Ritchie is again before Congress in behalf of a claim which was defeated last winter in the Senate. Heartily do we wish him success."

HONORS TO THE LATE JUDGE WOODBURY.—In the Supreme Court of the United States yesterday, Attorney General Crittenden pronounced a brief panegyric upon the late Judge Woodbury, and requested that the resolutions adopted by the bar of the Supreme Court be placed upon its records. The request was acceded to, and the assent of the Court expressed by Chief Justice Taney in a brief but earnest and feeling response.

SENATOR SOULE.—The New Orleans papers note a rumor of the intention of this gentleman to resign his seat in the United States Senate. We do not sympathize with the ultra views of Mr. Soule, yet we shall regret the day of his withdrawal from the Senate. His fine attainments and accomplishments, his ardent and enthusiastic nature, and his vehement and glowing eloquence, have well commended him to the admiration of all who have enjoyed the privilege of observing him upon this dignified theatre: while the presence of himself and family has been most highly prized in the social circles of the metropolis.

KOSSUTH is highly expected at New York. He will no doubt come on to Washington as soon as possible; but in New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, he must first submit to the prescribed ceremonies of processions, banquets, speeches, and Yankee hand-shaking, of the violence of which latter infliction he can have no adequate anticipation. It has been said of Mr. Clay that on his return from a northern tour, he has always to hold his right arm in a sling for a week or two. He at least can sympathize with the great Kossuth!

CRIMINAL COURT.—Robert Bruce was yesterday convicted of assaulting an officer. Latham for the defense.

James Lyles was also convicted of a like offense. Latham and Ratcliff for the defense.

Benj. Mortimer was to-day tried on the charge of larceny in two indictments, and acquitted in one instance, but found guilty of petit larceny in the other. Ratcliff and Latham for the defense.

THEIR ARE FORGERS ABOUT.—The Baltimore American states that a counterfeit check, in the name of one of the most respectable merchants of that city, was presented at the counter of the Bank in which he keeps his account yesterday morning, but, although extremely well executed, it was at once detected, and measures adopted to arrest the counterfeiter, but without success. Banks and others will therefore be on their guard.

Mr. J. Granville Penn, the descendant of the illustrious founder of Pennsylvania, has arrived in Philadelphia, and taken rooms at the Washington House, where he is receiving many hospitalities from the citizens.

Madame Celeste is delighting the Baltimoreans, as we saw her do long years ago. But these years they say have made no visible impression upon her. She has had her full share of the triumphs and sorrows of life. The former still appear triumphant, however. We suppose she will soon visit Washington.

POSTSCRIPT!

Navigation Closed.

UTICA, Dec. 2. Canal navigation is entirely suspended; nearly one thousand boats west of Schenectady are fast in the ice.

Fire.

BANGOR, Dec. 2. The Unitarian Church was destroyed by fire on Saturday. Loss $20,000.

Vessel Sunk.

NORFOLK, Dec. 2. The ship Torrent, of and from Bath, for Charleston, with a cargo of hay, has put in distress. On the first day out she came in collision with the schr. Cutler, of and for Portland from this port with a cargo of staves. The schr. was sunk, but her crew saved. The ship lost her bowsprit, sails, spars, &c.

Defence of Matamoros.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1. The steamer Mexico has arrived with Galveston dates of the 26th ult. Gen. Uruga had arrived at Matamoros with 800 men and several pieces of artillery to defend the place. There are now 2000 troops in the city. Carvajal was daily receiving reinforcements, and was awaiting the arrival of more before commencing the attack.

THE ALLEGED CHALLENGE TRAGEDY.—The New York Times of yesterday reports having received by the Promethes the San Francisco Picayune of the evening of November 1—half a day later than the Cherokee—which announces the arrest of the mate of the Challenge, on the morning of that day, nine miles beyond the Mission, on the San Jose road. He was lodged in the county jail, and placed in charge of the United States Marshal. The Picayune expresses the belief that Capt. Waterman would also be arrested.

The Journal of Commerce says that the Challenge sailed from New York with a crew of sixty men, a large portion of whom are represented as having been landsmen. The labor of sailing the ship consequently devolved on the experienced portion of the crew, and was regarded by them as too onerous to be endured. The result is thus stated by a correspondent of the Journal, writing from San Francisco on the 31st of October:

"She arrived here on the 29th instant, in beautiful order, her crew in rather bad plight, having suffered from dysentery, by which six men died, and three were lost from the mizzen-yard in a gale. Some of the sailors ran away before the ship came alongside the wharf, and told such shocking stories of the manner in which they had been treated, that a great excitement was created amongst the boatmen and sailors on the wharf; and the moment she arrived alongside the wharf, her decks were covered with the mob, crying out for the captain and mate, to lynch them; and had they fallen into their hands it would have been impossible to rescue them. They fortunately left the ship before she came to the wharf. It appears that it was the intention of the crew to seize the ship off Rio—murder the captain and mate—get her into their command, and go where they pleased. This was attempted about 12 o'clock in the day. The mate was knocked down and stabbed by the crew, but was rescued without serious injury by the captain, who succeeded in bringing them to duty, and they were not very kindly treated afterwards. The captain and mate have kept out of the way. The mob have threatened the ship—to burn and scuttle her. She is now in the hands of the United States Marshal, with a strong guard, as also a guard from the revenue cutter, and we trust all will pass off without further disturbance."

The announcement yesterday of the election of a "prosecutor and adjunct to the professor of surgery" in the medical department of Georgetown College, should have been "prosecutor to the chair of surgery," &c.

DR. VALENTINE'S LAST PERFORMANCE.—In consequence of the popular encouragement, and in compliance with the requests of many members of Congress and other gentlemen, Dr. Valentine will this evening re-open his carpet-bag, and exhibit a variety of novelties not hitherto displayed in Washington. Those who may wish to see him on any future evening must repair to Forrest Hall, Georgetown. Each, every, and all, who should, would, or could enjoy a good joke, had better look to this evening.

On Thanksgiving Day, Mr. Levi A. Ward, of Rochester, sent to the orphans of that city a chicken pie which weighed 200 pounds!

JOSHUA LEAVITT, the hermit, died a few days ago in the Cambridge almshouse, aged 88.

TURNER is to sing at Carnai's to-night again. Go, ladies and gentlemen, give him the benefit of your smiles and your applause. He is a beautiful balladist, and only needs your welcome presence and cheering applause.

The Maid of Monterey, sung by Mr. Turner last night, was beautifully executed, but the poetry could not be redeemed; it is execrably bad.

Twenty loving Irish couples were married at St. Mary's church, Cleveland, Ohio, on the morning of the 24th ult.

(Communicated.)

Ward Government or Self-Government. The attention of the people of Washington is respectfully requested to the subject of self-government in their respective Wards—for the election of magistrates and police, for taxation, for education, for certain local improvements, sanitary laws, &c., on the plan of the township system of New England, in which each voter is a legislator for his township—making each citizen familiar with the science of self-government in the ward or township, and more vigilant with respect to representative government in the city, county, State and General Government.

Prognosis. Miss Catharine Hayes will make her first appearance in Philadelphia on Saturday evening.

THE McDONOUGH BEQUEST.—A despatch from New Orleans, dated the 1st instant, states that the suit which was some time since brought by the counsel for Benj. C. Howard and Brants Mayer, of Baltimore, and the Rev. R. B. Gurley, of Washington, in the fifth district court, in opposition to their exclusion by the New Orleans executors in the distribution of the percentage on the McDonough estate, amounting to $62,448 70, was that day disposed of by Judge Buchanan, who delivered the opinion of the court rejecting the claims of Messrs. Gurley, Howard, and Mayer to any portion of their per centage.

It appears to us to be very certain, first, that Mr. McDonough never contemplated the removal of these gentlemen with their families to New Orleans to attend to this bequest; secondly, that he desired their counsels and agency in its management; thirdly, that he was not the man to wish this without recompense; fourthly, that by excluding them the requisitions of the will cannot be complied with; fifthly, that they should not perform any labor nor assume any responsibility without the usual reward; and, sixthly, as a corollary of all these positions, that they should be retained as executors with their share of the commissions. But of course a New Orleans court knows more about these things than we do.
